I don't understand. The Skype application now opens, but I am not able to sign in. I have tried logging in using my Microsoft account as well as using the Microsoft account that I have set up in the Windows app. I have reset my password and tried again. The Skype logo appears in the top left corner and there is a Skype text. . ** / Now click ** That completes the process, but it prompts me for the username and password. I'm at a complete loss as to why this is happening. The Skype application opens and I can log in. I just can't sign in via the. On that same topic, I have 2 computers, a Microsoft Surface Pro 5 and a MacBook Pro 15. ** / Now, I'm not sure if the MacBook Pro and the Surface Pro are using the same SkyDrive account. Does anybody know? Also, I am not logged in to any SkyDrive accounts. I have created a Windows 10 account on the Surface Pro and it has connected to the SkyDrive account successfully. I just can't sign in to Skype on the Surface Pro. I have tried the troubleshooting steps listed here: I have removed Skype from the App & Features list, as well as the list of SkyDrive accounts. I have tried signing in with the Microsoft account on the MacBook Pro as well as signing in with my Skype account. I have also disabled the Windows Hello feature on the 2d92ce491b
